

Abstract of the Disclosure

A combustion chamber subassembly for a vehicle heating device, includes a housing with a housing wall and a fuel feed through the housing wall, a fuel distribution element covering the housing wall on the side facing toward a combustion chamber and together with the housing wall bounding a fuel distribution channel arrangement, a plurality of fuel inlet apertures being formed in the fuel distribution element for conducting fuel from the fuel distribution channel arrangement toward the combustion chamber.